VOL. 45, NO. 6

The IBM 1620 computer will try once again as winter quarter registration is set for next week. Pictured here is the console for the machine. From this keyboard the wheels of the "magic computer" are set into motion to give students class schedules for another quarter.

HSC COMPUTER IS READY FOR WINTER REGISTRATION

The run-through with what has been called "The Magic Computer" and registration for the Winter Quarter will begin Monday with the distribution of registration materials that include three major revisions.

Freshmen will be the first to be able to pick up their registration materials on November 17, starting at 8:30 a.m. in the Old CAC. Upper-classmen, in the order of Sophomores then Juniors, Seniors, Graduates, will be able to get their materials during the rest of the week.

The deadline for returning Winter Quarter Registration materials and the full-time student fee of $45 will be Friday, November 21, at 5 p.m.

According to Registrar John Fry there are three major revisions planned for the IBM 1620 computer.

First, the computer registration program will allow students to select specific alternates to primary and alternate courses. For example: an art major can put down that if he can't get into a design class, he would like to be put in an oil painting class.

Fry says he hopes the computer will be ready for this step for the upcoming registration, but if not, such alternate course planning will definitely be available for the Spring Quarter.

General Education

The second change involves general education classes. Starting Fall Quarter, 1970, freshmen and last quarter seniors will be given preference for general ed. classes during the fall quarter of each year.

This change was decided upon to make sure that incoming freshmen could get a full class load and that seniors could graduate by finishing their general ed. requirements.

If space is available, members of other class standings will be allowed to enroll in the courses.

Because of this change, Fry warns that students should plan their schedules for the next two quarters knowing that only a limited number of general education classes will be open next September.

The third change involves the students' class levels. Starting this

ASB Fund use.. Answers Found

by Mike Stockstill
News Editor

Some questions began to be answered today as the uproar over the use of $51,000 in ASB funds settled down.

The action all started last Thursday night at the SLC meeting. ASB President Waine Benedict told council he had learned that $51,000 in ASB funds had been moved to a bank in Eureka without the consent or the knowledge of student body officers.

Benedict said that "this money is... tied up for the next three years and cannot be appropriated by the SLC, for it is being used as a kind of collateral by the state for the purchase of trailers." He said that his source of this information was one of the secretaries in the Administration Building.

Benedict added that he was making no accusations, but termed the move on the part of the administrators as "an assault on the integrity of and responsibility of the student body." He called for a complete investigation.

Dr. Edward Simmons, who was at the SLC meeting, tried to phone HSC Business Manager Frank Devery, but Devery was out of town. He did contact Director of Housing William Kingston, who came to the meeting and said that no money from the ASB had been used for any type of collateral.

ASB Treasurer Gary Phillips began to investigate the alleged tampering with the ASB funds on Friday and through the weekend. He came up with these answers:

1. That the savings account had been used as a "kind of collateral for the purchase of the trailers." — Phillips said that the funds were not considered as collateral of any kind. He said that the funds could not be attached in case of default by the private investor. Phillips said that the term "collateral" was possibly misunderstood by Benedict and his "source" in the administration secretarial staff.

Phillips produced a letter from the bank where the funds are kept that states a certain amount of collateral is present in the fund. The bank uses collateral in an entirely different connotation than as security on a loan.

2. That the funds had been placed in United California Bank in Eureka so that a local attorney could secure a loan on the trailers in Humboldt Village. — Phillips said that he had checked with the banks in question and with Devery and found Benedict's allegation to be untrue.

3. That the money had been used without the knowledge of the SLC of its officers. — To answer this, Phillips produced a copy of Senate Bill No. 19, which was passed by the Legislature in August. It states that all money collected by the ASB "shall be deposited in a local trust account by the chief fiscal officer of the state college." Business Manager Devery is the chief fiscal officer at HSC.

The senate bill further provides that the "chief fiscal officer of the college shall be custodian of these accounts." Thus, Phillips said, Devery has not only the right but the duty to quarter, the number of units the student passed at the end of the summer plus the number of units he was enrolled for as of October 17 will determine his class standing.

By including the units from the present quarter without regard to whether the student is passing them or not gives the student the benefit of the doubt in determining class standing.

Registration Materials

In the Old CAC, each student will receive the following materials:

1. Course Offering List indicates courses being offered and the tentative instructors assigned to them. This list does not include sections, times, days, or locations.

2. Course request cards (one for each course requested), fee cards, free time request card, and the student's program card.

Student Legislative Council Meets Crowded Agenda

In a busy session last Thursday night, the Student Legislative Council questioned the possible misuse of $51,000 in ASB funds, moved to revoke the constitution of the Intercollegiate Knights, postponed action on filling vacant council seats and saw a member of SLC walk out on the meeting.

Rep. Brent Howatt introduced a motion to revoke the constitution on the Intercollegiate Knights. Howatt said that the IK's were chartered as a service fraternity by the ASB, but claimed that they have "gravitated into a social fraternity" over the years.

Howatt also questioned the legality of the treatment of IK pages, citing the California Education Code, which states that no acts that "tend to injure, degrade or disgrace a person" may be used as a form of initiation.

(The IK pages wear thin aluminum "coats of armor" as a part of their initiation).

Howatt urged that if there was a "hassle" between Greek organizations and the IK's, the Greeks were left with no "Means of arbitration." Howatt said that Interfraternity Council, which is made up of the three Greek fraternities on campus, had no control over the IK's.

Howatt's motion was sent to committee for study.

Policy Committee

Reporting for the Policy Committee, Rep. Bill Jackson introduced a memo to council on means of filling vacant council seats. Jackson said that a special election would be held if a vacated seat on council had more than two quarters of service left. If a seat had only one quarter of service left, no special election would be held. Instead, the filling of the seat would be left until the general election at the quarter.

Because there are still two council seats left unfilled on the current SLC, each having one quarter of service left, Jackson suggested that the 6th and 7th runners-up in the fall quarter general election fill these vacancies for the quarter. The council endorsed Jackson's motion, but sent the proposal back into committee again for a decision on whether to place the proposal on the fall ballot as a bylaw or an amendment to the constitution.

Jackson also noted the committee's work on the succession procedure for the ASB should the President's office

Humboldt State's official nickname is the "Lumberjacks." Right? Wrong. One hundred per cent wrong.

Humboldt State's official nickname, as determined by the Student Council in 1931 is...

The Highlanders! And the action has never been rescinded, according to all available information to this reporter and at least one other researcher.

The suggestion that Humboldt State has been masking under a false name (Lumberjacks) for more than 30 years was first made by Dr. Joseph Forbes, professor of physical education, in his just-off-the-press "Athletic History of Humboldt State College."

He briefly mentioned in the 481-page volume that the name "Highlanders" was the first chosen, that it was used until the middle 30's, that the nickname "Thunderbolts" or "Thunderbolts" was used for a brief

Hunting Permits, $9

Humboldt State College, like all others in the State College system, is experiencing parking problems.

There are more cars than parking spaces.

Students and faculty are issued "hunting permits" at the beginning of each quarter for the sum of $9 a shot.

At present there are 426 more hunters than game. Both staff (A sticker) and students (B sticker) are suffering from the parking shortage to about the same extent, and the problem promises to get worse before it gets better.

The building of more campus facilities to accommodate the increased enrollment is reducing the number of parking places. The increased enrollment is increasing the number of students and staff in need of parking.

Last year, one of the fraternities had great difficulties in getting their new house rezoned for reasons of parking. The Arcata City Council refused to rezone the new frat house because there was not adequate provision for parking.

Acting as it should, in the interest of the city, the zoning change was delayed until there was proof that there was sufficient parking.

Why then can Humboldt State College, indeed the entire state college system, continue to expand facilities to accommodate increased enrollments without making adequate provisions for the increased demand for parking facilities.

Such actions are short sighted.

In addition to this, the HSC Parking Committee is developing into a wrestling match between students and faculty for parking spaces.

Two weeks ago, the committee took away 11 student parking places and replaced them with 11 staff slots. The smallness of the numbers does not lessen the impact which several of these moves would have.

Faculty representatives on the committee are fighting to get complete parking facilities for faculty at no cost to the faculty. The basis of this move is the theory that they are employees of the state and are therefore entitled to parking like all other employees.

Disregarding the purpose of this fight, the result can only be increased competition between students and faculty for parking while there is no concentration on the real problem, lack of facilities.

The campus facilities planner, a member of the committee, offers little hope for the lessening of the problem. He is concerned with dealing with a greatly reduced budget and the present construction projects in progress here.

The lack of hope stems from the lack of funds. At the present pace, staff parking will continue to expand until the angry professors are satisfied. The student parking will continue to diminish until students become angry.

The best solution to the problem is a concerted effort of the students and staff to get more parking facilities and to take maximum advantage of those in existence.

Letters to The Editor

Editor:

The article in your November 5 issue entitled "Human Condition" by Ernie Wasson was excellent. My friends and I feel the need to praise both the Lumberjack and Ernie — congratulations on a fine start.

But it is just that — a beginning. The ecological crisis in all its facets — overpopulation, pollution, destruction and depletion of natural resources, etc. is the most significant problem facing the world today.

I sincerely invite the Lumberjack to assert its position as an aware and articulate segment of the student body by editorially voicing significant environmental problems and possible solutions on the local, regional, and international levels.

GP and ARCO do not control our tongues — let us take full advantage! I'm looking forward to future issues.

November 7, 1969

Mr. President:

Due to circumstances beyond my control, I find that I can no longer fill my elected obligation to sit on the Student Legislative Council.

Since major policy decisions are made outside of council and debate has consistently been suppressed, alternate minority suggestions have not been able to have their just hearing. Because the chair has refused to set policy on floor recognition, minority opinions have often not been allowed to reach the floor.

Under these circumstances I cannot conscientiously sit on council and falsely represent those who elected me.

LEGAL OPINION

CTA-CCUFA Uphold Tenure On Faculty-To-Faculty Marriage

Humboldt State College may not refuse permanent status on grounds that a faculty member married another tenured faculty member. That in summary is the opinion of the California Teachers Association Legal Department.

The California College and University Faculty Association, CCUFA, requested the opinion last spring when the problem arose after a professor married another faculty member at Humboldt. Reappointed for the 1967-68 year, the professor received a letter from the college stating in part, "Because of our policy against close relatives both becoming tenured, particularly when they serve in the same area, I must call to your attention that your consecutive full-time employment cannot exceed four years."

At the end of the 1968-69 year, the question of granting tenure was before the administration and appropriate faculty committees since the college policy does permit granting tenure to close relatives, including wives and husbands, "in exceptional cases," and "upon recommendation of a select committee convened to review the case."

Learning of the case and policy, Robert M. Rees, then CCUFA acting executive secretary, requested a legal opinion by CTA on whether such denial of tenure would be upheld by the courts. The legal opinion was issued by CTA's Legal Department on May 13, 1969, to the effect that denial of tenure in the case considered would be held by the courts to be illegal. Meantime, the college granted tenure to the professor, but the college policy has not been changed. Rees said, "CCUFA and the college have to see the Humboldt policy dropped or drastically revised as soon as possible. It is invalid." The legal opinion has been communicated to the college administration, academic senate and the CSC chancellor's office.

Considered to be a "nepotism" policy, the CTA-CCUFA opinion notes the policy is not such and adds a definition of nepotism, "The bestowal of patronage by public officers in appointing others to offices or positions by reason of their blood or marital relationship to the appointing authority, rather than because of the merit or ability of the appointee."

The opinion further holds that in this case, not to grant tenure would be to violate constitutional rights, and also notes that under 5 Cal. Adm. Code, Section 42702(d) (2) a college president must base conferring tenure solely upon "ability and fitness for the position to be filled." Further the opinion notes that in the case studied, where both the husband and now-wife faculty members had been in college employment along with other couples on staff, any denial of tenure could provoke court insistence upon reasonable evidence that presence on campus of tenured couples in general, or of the case in point, disrupted or impaired classroom discipline or the teaching process in the college.

The opinion recommends any denial of tenure in the case studied, and presumably in like cases, be appealed to the chancellor and, if necessary, the State College Board of Trustees, prior to any CCUFA request for legal action. Rees added that CCUFA had alerted the CTA Legal Panel that it might need a test case in the courts on the status of its member at Humboldt at the 1968-69 year's end. The panel serves to advise the CTA Board of Directors what precedent cases CTA should pursue in the interest of education and college or school personnel. "CCUFA and CTA would have to challenge at the administrative level and in the courts, if necessary, any denial of tenure to a CCUFA member because he or she had married another faculty member," Rees predicted. "Now we must communicate with the academic senate and college administration at Humboldt insisting that the existent policy be changed." He added, "In light of our legal opinion I am sure that the change will occur."

Viet Nam War Continues, Nation's Moratorium Expands

Bumper stickers, peace buttons and information have been distributed for the November Vietnam Moratorium. Among the activities planned for this campus is a boycott of classes and canvassing of the community.

And the beat goes on . . . We're still in Vietnam so the Moratorium still goes on. Thursday and Friday, November 13 and 14 will be the days of activity for HSC.

In cooperation with the National Student Mobilization Committee and the Vietnam Moratorium Committee, the HSC Moratorium is attempting to involve even more citizens than were in the October Moratorium.

On Tuesday, November 4, approximately 80 people attended a night meeting to further plan for the Moratorium.

Waine Benedict, Humboldt State College student body president, stated that "no one is in charge . . . it is a spontaneous thing with a lot of concerned people."

On Wednesday, November 5, the supply of 500 peace buttons, blue with a white dove, had been distributed.

Whereas the SLC had a hassle prior to the October Moratorium regarding issuance of a resolution, no problems were present this month.

"There is no formal resolution of the student body," said Benedict.

Events scheduled for the Moratorium include canvassing the community, a boycott of classes, a boycott of merchants, a teach-in, and a peace march.

Volunteer students going from door to door will hand out informational pamphlets and discuss the war with the community.

The boycott of classes is scheduled for Friday. Informational picket lines will be found at four areas on campus: 1) the freeway entrance, 2) the Union St. entrance, 3) the Jolly Giant Commons area, 4) the 14th St. entrance.

A boycott of merchants is also planned for Friday. Frank Onstine, who called himself a "helping organizer" said:

"We're not against the merchants . . . its purpose is to slow down the economy."

"We'd like all the merchants to voluntarily close."

A teach-in is to be held in Eureka at the Olive Branch, at St. Bernard's Church and 6th Street. Among the speakers will be Father Blase Bonpane, who has helped organize a national group called Avila (Avoid Vietnam in Latin America). Bonpane is speaking at several rallies during the November mobilization.

The Eureka peace march will start at 5 p.m. Friday at the Eureka City Courthouse. The parade, stated Rick Khamsi, is expected to be nearly 20 blocks long.

Two buses are available for students traveling to San Francisco for the march against the war on Saturday.

Information about any phase of the Moratorium at HSC can be obtained from Rick Khamsi or Kris van Taterhove in Room 7 of Nelson Hall.

The schedule of events is as follows:

Thursday, Nov. 13 —

9 a.m.-Noon — Speeches and announcements at the Stump.

10 a.m.-7:30 p.m. — Canvassing of community.

7:30 p.m. — Teach-in at Olive Branch at 6th and H Sts., in Eureka.

Friday, Nov. 14 —

Noon-4 p.m. — Informational picket line at HSC; canvassing continues.

4-5 p.m. — Orientation (for march at Eureka City Courthouse).

5-7 p.m. — Peace march and convocation. Ceremony for Vietnam War dead. Rally. (Begins at courthouse at 5 p.m.)

Carl Shaff Resigns

A sixth representative, Carl Shaff, has resigned from Student Legislative Council, thus leaving ten people to represent 5000 students.

After receiving a copy of his letter of resignation, the Lumberjack contacted Shaff for a clarification of his reasons for resigning.

"There are many reasons," said Shaff. "The main reason is a general lack of respect and trust between the executive branch and council, and between the council members themselves."

When asked why this condition exists, Shaff gave three reasons:

1. A lack of experience in all branches. (Only four council members had experience prior to this year.)

2. Many items were designated emergency measures so that they could be acted on when clearly there was no emergency.

3. After an agenda was approved by the council, some items not on the agenda were allowed to be brought to the floor, while others were not.

"Another reason for my resignation is the use of a parliamentary procedure known as cloture," said Shaff. "I have used it myself many times to stop needless debate, but I have never called for it until all council members have been allowed to express their views. Lately council members have been calling for cloture to prevent the minority opinion from being expressed."

"A final reason for resigning was pointed out in a conversation I had with President Benedict and Vice President Gregg," said Shaff. "I was told that all major decisions were made outside council. That made me realize why cloture was being invoked so frequently. It eliminated minority discussion, which in turn eliminated minority rights."

Shaff said that since this practice is going unabated he cannot truly represent a campus which does not always side with the majority view. Shaff also pointed out that a quorum in SLC is nine representatives. There will now be only ten. This could mean if two reps hold a minority opinion and cannot gain the floor for discussion purposes, they can walk out and stop the meeting. Without a quorum no vote can be taken. Thus by resigning Shaff hopes to give the minority back their rights to open debate.

President Waine Benedict said that Shaff's resignation is "unfounded on the point that the minority principle is unheard and that decisions are made out of council."

Councilman Dean Palus said that if a councilman feels that he can no longer represent the campus that he should follow his conscience even to the point of resignation.

Academic Senators Hassle Over Issue

By Wayne Dodge
Student Member to Academic Senate

The final minutes of the regular meeting of the HSC Academic Senate last Thursday were dominated by temporary displays of emotionalism on the part of some senators present.

Responsible for eliciting this emotion and the ensuing closed vote was the nature of the final agenda item on an otherwise "business as usual" agenda. The item dealt with the adoption of a resolution asserting the senate's position to the position taken by the U.C. Board of Regents in dealing with the Angela Davis Case.

The first draft of the contested resolution was introduced by Senator and Student Body President Wayne Benedict at the October 28 meeting of the senate. At that meeting a senator objected to the resolution on grounds that it contained "objectionable language" and had not been available to senate members for sufficient time prior to the meeting as senate rules require. It was then decided that Dr. John Pauley should re-write the resolution and present it as a proper agenda item.

Debate

The debate on the revised resolution was led off by Dr. Jacqueline Kasun acting as proxy for regular senate member Frank Jewett. Dr. Kasun, referring to a recent Wall Street Journal article, said she agreed with the proposed resolution but a be vacated. The committee suggested that the President Pro Tempore of the SLC assume the job of President until a special election or general election is held.

In other action, Council —

— Heard a report from Tim McKay that the Highway Department did not favor a hitch-hiking station on the freeway.

— Approved a "flea market" book sale to be run by the Spurs and Alpha Phi Omega.

— Endorsed a move to study the feasibility of setting up a tenant's union.

— Heard a report on the Joint Committee on Intercollegiate Athletics which alleged that half the profits from the Kiwanis charity football game went to the Lumberjacks, Inc. for scouting of football players.

second resolution should be sent to the head of the psychology department at UCLA because he had hired Miss Davis for "political and racial reasons." She continued by saying "this is definitely contrary to any form of academic freedom." Senator Benedict replied that special concessions had to be made in a "racist society." College president and senator, Cornelius H. Siemens, present for the first time this year, said that racism could not be proved and HSC had been making special efforts to hire minority faculty in recent years. Senator Benedict replied, "ample statistics are available to support my position."

As debate on the resolution continued, President Siemens expressed concern for the validity of the intent of the resolution on the belief that the regents had acted according to a "rule on the books," and said "it is that rule which should be condemned." He was referring to a rule adopted in 1949 that bars Communist Party members from University faculty. Student senator Pat Gilman then informed the senate that the Regents and Governor Ronald Reagan, had unanimously vowed last April, "no political tests shall ever be considered in faculty, hiring, promotion, and dismissal."

Siemens

President Siemens then went on to assert the resolution did not recognize the significance of court action that was in progress which would eventually lead to a definition of the term, academic freedom. He was referring to the Regents' pledge that the Davis case would be carried to the Supreme Court. Senator Pauley, co-author of the revised resolution and representative to the state-wide Academic Senate, "defied anyone to write a better resolution regarding this matter." Benedict then suggested that the resolution be amended to confirm the senate's awareness of the significance of future court action but, this suggestion gained little evident support.

Motion

Senator Fred Cranston then made a motion to adopt the resolution in its present form. The vote that followed was a close 9 to 8 in favor of the statement with one abstention.

Senator Kasun then asked that the names of those members voting for and against the resolution be included on the statement before it was sent to the Regents and UCLA Chancellor Charles Young. Senate Chairman Dr. Alba Gillespie said it would be done.

Senator James Householder requested a discussion to clarify the reasoning of those senators who had voted against the resolution. Chairman Gillespie said he thought the reasons had been sufficiently clear and he called the meeting adjourned.

Prize-Winning Poet To Read Friday

On Nov. 14, 1969, prize-winning poet Dennis Schmitz will read in Sequoia Theater.

Schmitz, 1969 prize-winner in the Big Table Series of Younger Poets, combines classical sensibility with the modern freedom of form.

To quote the introduction to his new book, "We Weep for our Strangeness," "these are the kinds of poems one returns to when one had the desire to read poetry in all its rawness."

Schmitz received his MA from the University of Chicago. He is now teaching at Sacramento State College. The poetry reading begins at 8 p.m. There is no admission charge.

International Study Information Out

Information on the 1970-71 academic year for the International Programs of the California State Colleges is now available for interested HSC students who will have upper division or graduate status by September, 1970.

Dr. John Houk, Dean of the School of Business and Economics, and Dr. James D. Turner, professor of sociology, are co-chairmen of the HSC International Programs Committee. Houk has full details on the opportunities of study and travel through the programs.

Over 1,500 California collegians have enrolled for foreign study in the six years since the programs were established. The list of cooperating foreign universities includes most European nations, Israel, Lebanon, Ghana, Colombia, Peru, Japan, and Taiwan. The 1970-71 program will allow for 425 participants.

In addition to having upper division or graduate standing by September 1970, applicants for the programs must have good academic records. Programs in England, Israel, Ghana, Greece, Italy, Lebanon, the Netherlands, Sweden, Taiwan and Japan do not require previous study in the language of the host country.

Participants are enrolled concurrently in their home campus and the foreign university to which they are assigned. Study completed is credited toward their degrees at their home campuses.

Enrollment Figures Broken Down

Three weeks after registration ended, there were 5174 individuals attending Humboldt State College. The number of men is 3392, 1782 are women.

The number of students calculated on a full time equivalency (FTE) varies slightly from this figure. The FTE is the total number of units offered at the college divided by 15, which is considered a normal load.

"The FTE is useful for budgeting and determining faculty use," said

John Fry, registrar of students.

The enrollment at HSC has been rising rapidly in recent years.

The Fall 1965 quarter saw 3227 individuals and 2822 FTE.

The Fall 1968 quarter saw 4566 individuals and 4305 FTE.

The Fall 1969 quarter saw 5174 individuals and 4913 FTE.

"We plan to have 8000 FTE under our masterplan by 1975. This is a growth of approximately 360 per year," Fry said.

Humboldt To Get Instructional Ship

Humboldt will have the first ship in the country used for instructional rather than research purposes next year if the 1970-71 budget is not changed.

According to Dr. James Gast, Oceanography Department Chairman, the money for Humboldt to charter a ship is still in the budget.

Gast says the other oceanography schools in the nation concentrate primarily on graduate work with emphasis on research. He says that much of this research is federally backed.

It will be an unprecedented move, Dr. Gast says, for Humboldt's vessel to only have State backing and be devoted to undergraduate studies.

He declined to give any specific information about the ship that is being considered for chartering, but commented that the vessel is 15 times larger in cubic content than the department's present boat, "The Seagull."

Seagull

Whereas the "Seagull" can handle 10 to 12 students and is limited to use only in fairly good weather because of its small size, the new ship will be able to take a whole lab section out safely at one time. Because of its larger size, the weather will not play as much of a factor in determining when the ship will go out.

The "Seagull" can seldom go more than 15 to 20 miles out of Humboldt Bay, but the chartered ship will allow the students to work in deeper waters on the edge of the continental shelf and beyond.

"Our laboratory is out on the water," says Dr. Gast. Just as the other science departments have their labs, the oceanography department and the other sciences involved with ocean studies should be able to get out in their "lab" to work.

Right now, it appears the vessel will be here and available next fall. Nothing is definite yet, but it is possible that the ship will be moored in Humboldt Bay during the winter and moved up the coast to Trinidad in the spring, summer, and fall. Dr. Gast added that if a breakwater jetty is built at Trinidad, the ship might be kept there all year.

S.O.S.

Last year, a student S.O.S. (Save Our Ship) Committee circulated petitions to try to get the College to buy a ship from the Navy. "Personally," Dr. Gast said, "I would say the S.O.S. Committee did an excellent job at alerting administrators and state officials to the anxiety of the students and their concern for the programs that are dependent on these vessels."

The Chancellor's office suggested that rather than buying a ship, Humboldt look into chartering a vessel.

The Navy has since notified Dr. Gast that it was discontinuing its attempt to turn its ship over to H.S.C.

Even though it seems certain that they will get a ship even if it wasn't the one they had originally planned on, the S.O.S. Committee still exists. Dr. Gast says the group will be available when necessary to show that interest has not lagged.

Mitsanos Organizes Summer Art Class

Dimetrios Mitsanos, an art professor at HSC, has been organizing a course in Art History to be held in Greece next summer. The six unit, upper division course will survey Greek antiquities in their historical and sociological background and will provide free time for "fooling around on the beaches" stated Mitsanos.

Mitsanos came from Greece to the U.S. as an overseas student in 1961 and received his B.A. and M.A. from San Francisco State College. Many factors have gone into the decision to make the U.S. his home. He stated the difficulty that people who have experienced two cultures have in choosing between them. "It is difficult," he said, "to prefer one culture, because there are some things one likes about each culture, putting one somewhere in between the two." Mitsanos stated it is "beautiful to go back... sometimes." After a summer, he was ready to return to the U.S.

There is a great difference among the people of Greece and the U.S. he said. The people of Greece are much more open. Screaming and yelling are part of the "rhythm of everyday life" and it is not as offensive or remembered as long as it is in the U.S.

Although Mitsanos dislikes the subject, he talks about Greek politics so that people can get a true picture of what it is like. Since 1961, when he left the country, a regime has been established and he states that it is a terrible situation. "It is sad to see what the colonels are doing to the country and the people." The supposed democratic constitution has been abolished and the people are carefully watched. They are not allowed to discuss politics, which is "disastrous for Greeks because they love to discuss politics." Personal friends have reported the dehumanistic torture used on the young and old for those who disobey. Mitsanos, as most of his fellow countrymen, opposes the regime. He would like to begin a lecture series on the situation in Greece so that people can get the real picture.

He would also like to expose other elements of Greek culture by teaching an extension course in contemporary Greek, teach Greek folk dances, play and possibly coach the soccer team.

Mitsanos likes to talk with the students and is planning an informal teacher-student relationship for the tour next summer. His plans include informal short evening discussions and daytime outdoor discussions about the work seen that day. More information on the 40-day tour will be available before Christmas.

Cheerleaders Talk About Issue

The HSC cheerleaders say they feel like the only cheerleaders in the nation who are yelled at — after the game.

But, the cheerleaders are now complaining because the yelling is coming through indirect channels rather than right to ground zero.

Saying the cheerleaders have not been "indoctrinated" in the ways of sportsmanship, Don TerBush, sports writer for the Eureka Times Standard, devoted an entire column to a denunciation of the cheerleaders' use of "obscene" cheers.

One cheerleader, Vicky Joyner, said, "there's a difference between gross yells and suggestive yells."

Another cheerleader, Denise Dennison, added, "we'll admit to the suggestive yells, but not to the gross ones."

Miss Joyner said the "people got a big kick" out of the yells.

Don Copland, also a cheerleader, said the yells "weren't meant to degrade...they were for humor. If your mind's in the gutter, that's what (that the yells were obscene) you're going to think."

The controversy has been boiling from the first game. The cheerleaders said they have had some direct complaints about the use of a spell out of "Some have it tough," but most complaints have been indirect.

Lumberjack sports editor, Gene Aker, has mentioned the yells in all but one of his "Sports Minded" columns.

The cheerleaders claim they have been misquoted. Miss Joyner said "they're (those who are criticizing the yells) making up yells we're not even using."

The only direct complaints, according to the cheerleaders, came from the Letterman's Club and the coaches.

The cheerleaders said "we laid everything on the crowd the first game." Maybe that was too soon. "We weren't out there prancing...we were trying to promote spirit."

Copland said, "You can tell when you've done a bad yell...the people don't react." And the cheerleaders are staying away from these yells.

And as Miss Joyner said, "You just can't please everybody."

The Lineup

Union May Form By Black Students

A chapter of the Black Students Union may soon form on the Humboldt campus.

According to Bill Richardson, the chief organizer of the group, the HSC chapter would be designed to "adjust Peace Corps Sends Reps.

Three representatives from the Peace Corps will visit Humboldt State during the week of November 10-14. They will be manning a booth in front of the CAC. Applications, general Peace Corps material and specific program information will be available.

The representatives will be speaking in several classes throughout the week and will be giving the Peace Corps test on Friday.

The volunteers are Kathy Dancy, Mark Fritzer and Ivan Rosales. Miss Dancy is returning from the Marshall Islands where she taught elementary school, and organized preschool and adult education programs.

Fritzer, a specialized agricultural recruiter, is a returning volunteer from Nepal. While there he lived in a small village in the Himalayas and introduced new seed varieties to increase village food production.

Rosales is a Host Country National from Nicaragua. He is in the United States to talk with people about his country and to help recruit volunteers. In Nicaragua, Rosales worked as a journalist.

to the situation up here."

The 20-year-old junior said he is now corresponding with several other chapters to get ideas. He mentioned Fresno State College specifically.

Although he is the sole organizer now, Richardson said he hopes to hold an organizational meeting within the next two weeks. He said he will contact the school's 12 Black students.

Richardson said the need for the club has arisen because of "common interests" and as a "protective measure."

"I don't think the students are really hostile, but the Black student has to sell himself. I don't think that's right. Hell, we're people."

Richardson called the Black student at HSC "invisible." He said that "it's worse than being tolerated, you're ignored." His goal is not to have the Black students shaking hands with everybody, but he said, "there's more to us than athletics."

Richardson said he could see two goals for a local BSU. First, "to put active emphasis on recruiting more Black people up into this area." And second, recruiting Black professors to HSC. "I know there are qualified people," he said. This might eventually lead to some Black studies courses.

Indians

Although specifics have not been worked out, Richardson said local Indians may be invited to join the chapter. He said the Indians belong in the Black movement because both minorities have been "exploited" by the white man.

According to the organizer, both groups are pressured by the community. "What this community demands is that you become white. But you can't. Besides, that's junk because it's not part of you. It's just not worth it. It's fake."

Richardson said the chapter's first meeting would be for work on a constitution and a charter.

Richardson comes from the Sacramento area and is a graduate of Sierra College. He is in his second quarter at Humboldt and is majoring in sociology and physical education. He is also a member of the varsity football team.

Enrollment Cause of Long Wait

The increase in the number of full-time students at Humboldt without a similar budget increase is responsible for the long waits students may encounter at the Health Center.

According to Dr. Charles Yost, Health Center Director, the State Legislature authorizes one physician to every 1800 students. The State Chancellor's Office has limited Humboldt to two full-time doctors.

Personnel Director Lester Torgerson makes the distinction, however, that only the number of full-time students is considered in the doctor-student ratio. At the time the budget was drawn up, 4410 full-time students were enrolled, allowing Humboldt 2.1 health service doctors.

Presently Humboldt has 4750 full-time students.

The Chancellor's Office did make some adjustments in the H.S.C. budget because of the increased enrollment, but the instructional program receives precedent on this extra money.

According to Dr. Yost, Governor Ronald Reagan is proposing an additional 20 percent budget cutback for student health services for the next fiscal year starting July 1, 1970.

The Health Center has attempted to meet its present budget by eliminating approximately 30 percent of the services that were offered last year. The average number of persons treated per day has dropped from last year's 160 to 175 persons to 128 so far this year.

Dr. Yost says the students "have been very understanding" about the cutbacks, but he feels that the individuality of the doctor-patient relationship is difficult to maintain even with the drop in the number of patients from last year.

At present, sick call is held Monday through Wednesday mornings. No appointment is necessary.

The Health Center operates on an appointment basis Monday through Wednesday afternoons, and all day Thursday and Friday. Appointments are scheduled 10 to 15 minutes apart.

The secretaries at the Health Center commented that Mondays and Fridays are the Center's busiest days. The least number of students come in on Wednesday. Few people come in during the first and last half-hour of each day.

ERIC Love Leads Experimental U.

Because he felt "totally alienated" and "bored" in his regular classes, Eric Love dropped out of college in Texas. He is now in charge of Humboldt's Experimental University.

Through the 24 classes being offered this quarter, Love hopes "to turn people on to the joy of learning through personal, intimate groups."

Sponsored by Youth Educational Service, Love recruited this quarter's course leaders by sitting in front of the C.A.C. and by distributing leaflets about the University. This quarter, each class will meet once a week for five weeks.

Next quarter, Love hopes to have 50 classes being offered and is presently looking for people to head new groups. Winter quarter classes will begin sooner than fall quarter's.

Last Friday was the last day of registration for this quarter's classes. A $2 tuition fee allowed the student to sign up for as many of the University's 24 classes as he wanted.

Some of the classes are yoga, Zen macrobiotics, sensory awareness, Vedanta, Hobbitt lore and candle craft. Other classes include folk or jazz and blues guitar, fishing, poetry and crocheting.

Profs Householder, Partain Speak For Parking Rights

"We're confronted with an extortion racket," says math professor, Dr. James Householder, when asked about HSC's parking situation.

"State college administrations have not seen fit to battle for their employees' parking rights," declares Gerald Partain, a forestry professor who is a member of the college's Parking and Traffic Committee.

The two professors' sentiments reflect a long-smoldering complaint among many of the local faculty and staff. "We have to park at our jobs," goes the argument, "so why should we be forced to pay?" Most employees of private industry, the pair maintain—even most other state employees—are provided free parking at their job sites as a matter of course.

Test Case

Householder and Partain are veterans of a legal showdown in 1960, when the college's right to charge for parking was directly challenged. Both deliberately broke campus regulations at that time, and Householder's violation was made into a test case. "I was convicted in Justice Court, but the Superior Court reversed the decision," he recalls. "When the administration ignored the reversal, we got an injunction to compel them to abolish parking fees. Then the State Legislature passed a law making it legal for the state to exploit students and faculty."

Organized resistance to parking fees has never been revived, and continuing resentment is hard to measure. Dr. Partain claims that "a good many faculty members refuse to buy a parking sticker."

"My anger and contempt are unabated," says Householder, "but I don't know what to do in a practical way. It's legal to exploit us, and they're doing it."

Benefits

Both professors were skeptical of supposed benefits from parking revenue, which goes to a state trust-fund, and is redistributed to the state colleges for improvement of parking facilities.

"I'll bet my bottom dollar we've subsidized parking on other campuses," Partain asserts.

Householder points out that the 1,988 parking permits purchased this quarter would produce an annual revenue of over $50,000. "I've seen no evidence of any of it being spent to make parking more convenient. When someone sells something and doesn't deliver, it's usually known as a fraud. In view of the overselling of spaces, a permit to park is merely a hunting license."

According to Partain, higher parking fees have been proposed on a statewide level, and the California State Employees Association is preparing to resist. In his opinion, there is likely to be renewed local activity in regard to the long-lived controversy.

A sculpture by Jim Morgan is now on display in the sculpture court of the Art Building. The piece of art was made in Morgan's advanced sculpture class.

Chamberlain Speaks On Scientific Ethics

Dr. Owen Chamberlain, 1959 Nobel Prize winner in science, speaking to an audience of about 425 people at Sequoia Theater last Wednesday pointed out that ethics in science is based on only two points.

The first point is that "each scientist should approve of a project and see purpose in it before he agrees to work on it." He illustrated this by discussing the decisions made by those scientists working on the Manhattan Project, which developed the atomic bomb.

The second point is that "a scientist should feel an obligation to society to speak up when he has insight into something he thinks society may be overlooking." He cited the efforts of those involved in the Manhattan Project to inform society of the dangers and changes which atomic energy would bring.

Dr. Chamberlain said the question of science and ethics is becoming popular because society cannot keep up with technological advances. He then discussed various aspects of atomic warfare and the ABM System, and concluded with a question and answer period.

Housing

Students are again trying to get some action on the number one problem facing Humboldt State: housing.

The latest effort is centering around tenants' and landlords' legal rights and responsibilities in the community. Students are seeking to determine their rights and also to find out if landlords are living up to their responsibilities in areas of health and building regulations.

The students, who decline to be identified for fear of reprisals against them by landlords, are seeking to investigate all aspects of the housing situation. They hope to set up a grievance committee with the community, to propose solutions to the problems and to act as mediators for tenants and landlords.

The students also are trying to work with the Housing Office at HSC to compile information on all available housing in the area and the conditions of the housing.

All students interested in working with this group are urged to see ASB President Wayne Benedict or Rep.-at-Large Joe Gero.

SUMMER JOBS

Tonight from 7 to 9 o'clock Conservation Unlimited will conduct a job seminar on summer employment in the natural resource field.

The seminar will be held in Wildlife 206. All phases of summer employment, including work with the Dept. of Fish and Game, Beaches and Parks, and U. S. Forest Service. Featured speaker will be Bev King, who will discuss summer employment available to women.

Group Wants Booze Legal

A liberalized drinking policy based on the one now used at Cal-State at Fullerton has been submitted to the Inter Resident Council of the dormitories, here at HSC.

Karl Shaff, who heads up a committee studying the alcoholic policies of several schools, said the IRC's reaction "wasn't pro, wasn't con." He said they took the position, "let's research it."

Shaff said IRC will probably defer action until a report is prepared by five students who attended the Western Resident Hall Convention in Seattle late last month.

The introduction of the modified Fullerton policy came shortly after the announcement that San Francisco State College had liberalized its policy.

According to Shaff, notification came by telephone. IRC is now waiting for a copy of the S.F. State's policy he said. It is expected sometime this week.

Shaff said most administrators he has talked to about the proposal will not react to it. "This is good," he said, "it shows they have an open mind."

The Fullerton policy makes no mention of college responsibility to enforce state alcohol laws, specifically those concerning consumption by minors. On this point, Shaff said, "Fullerton is a bad example because the dorms are off campus." This question remains to be worked out. "This, we hope, will come out of the San Francisco policy," he said.

Despite its defects, Shaff thinks the "Fullerton policy is good enough for this campus, but I'm just one person."

Policy

The major points of the just-submitted policy are:

1. Restriction of drinking to private living areas out of "public view."
2. Liquor is not to be supplied to any resident under the age of 21.
3. Individual students will be responsible for the disposal of beverage containers.
4. Excluding two conditions, it is recommended the IRC not involve itself with the purchase of alcoholic or malt beverages. These two exceptions include: a specific IRC function, and a function where non-alcoholic beverages are also served.

The Student Conduct Code now carries a provision stating "possession, consumption, or furnishing of alcohol on the college campus or controlled property or at college-sponsored or supervised functions is grounds for disciplinary probation."

Committee Positions Open Now

"At least 48 openings remain on various student body committees," according to ASB President Waine Benedict.

The most important, Benedict said, are on the Elections Commission where 12 students are being sought. The Elections Commissioner, chosen by the ASB President with the approval of the Student Legislative Council, names the other 11 members. These are then confirmed by the SLC, he said.

The Election Commission is responsible for conducting campus elections and distributing information about the election.

Other committees which still have openings are the Publicity Board, the Joint Student-Faculty Review Board, which handles student grievances, and the College Union Board of Directors.

There are 41 committees listed in the committees handbook issued by Stan Mottaz, activities advisor. There are openings for at least 200 students, on these committees.

At last week's meeting of the SLC, 17 students were seated on the Student Judiciary Council including 10 new members.

Larry Henderson, a senior engineering student, was named as chairman of the council and Tom Grover was named vice-chairman. Both are former members of the council. Leslie Scofield, a new member, was named clerk.

Other members are: Howard Fuller, Alan Anderson, Lee Whitecar, Dan Eastburg, and Gailey Browning. New members include Bob Chandler, Duane Bradley, Helen King, Patricia Nelson, Maria Johnston, Marwan Hujer, James Jaeger, Jerry Wicox and Rick Lay.

Trustees Caution College Papers

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Shying away from official censorship, a state college trustees' committee is recommending steps to "guard against misuse of freedom of the press" by student newspapers in the 18-campus state system.

The recommendation Tuesday, on a 6-1 vote of the trustees committee on educational policy, follows concern expressed by some trustees over alleged cases of obscenity and radical political stands in campus newspapers. The resolution calls for establishment of student-administration watchdog publication boards.

College system Chancellor Glenn Dumke predicted there would be "another episode" of controversy unless trustees act. "We've got some problems that need to be corked up," he declared.

The committee's resolution—which next goes to the full board of trustees—recommends that Dumke be "directed to insure that each state college review methods of administration that will most likely solve the problems of student publications without censorship."

The committee acted over the objections of campus student body presidents at the meeting who wanted trustees to confine themselves to recommendations rather than directives to the chancellor.

Lone Dissenter

Trustee James Thacher of San Francisco cast the lone dissenting vote. He said he feared the diversity of viewpoints in the campus papers would be lessened.

The "Forty-Niner" student newspaper at California State College at Long Beach editorialized against the resolution, saying "... a law that 'directs' an editor to be fair is as unrealistic as a law that 'directs' citizens to live without racial prejudice."

Trustee chairman Daniel Ridder, publisher of the Long Beach Independent Press Telegram, said official student publications using student funds should not be allowed to take editorial stands in student body elections. That could result in fees paid by a student candidate being used to pay for a publication that opposes him, he said.

"The way Americans think, about the only way to end hunger in America would be for Melvin Laird to go on national television and say that we are falling behind the Russians in feeding folks."

The troops that Gregory refers to are poverty "warriors" who seem to have come to a war that no one is giving this year.

Counselor Optimistic After Meeting

"I came away with an attitude of optimism," Russell Munsell, counselor-at-large from the HSC Counseling Center said, speaking about his recent trip to a weekend workshop in human relations.

The institute entitled "human relations in higher education," was led by Dr. Stewart B. Shapiro, director of Counseling and Guidance, Education Dept., University of California at Santa Barbara.

Students, faculty and administrators from colleges throughout the nation attended the three-day event in Berkeley. The primary emphasis was on improving communication skills and a collaborative atmosphere on the campus.

In working toward goals, Munsell stressed the idea of "mutual identification." He explained this by bringing out the example of one individual wanting to solve a problem, but feeling that he is all alone, forgetting about it. He went on to say, if the individual went farther he would probably find that there are many others feeling the same way.

Three basic questions were asked at the workshop that could be applied in any problem solving situation. Where am I now and where am I going? What are the barriers? How am I going to get there?

Munsell said that the main thing is to concentrate on the goal instead of on the barriers. If you are creative, you can figure out ways to get by these barriers he said.

On any campus this can be applied. If a student feels that there is need for improvement in a specific area, he can ask these questions and set out to solve them, he continued.

After discussing and participating in these problem solving as well as other communication techniques, Munsell expressed an attitude of excitement and optimism about the potentialities of higher education. Now he wishes to "communicate this excitement to others," here on the HSC campus.

Positions Open For Work - Study

Less than half of the students cleared for Work-Study jobs are not working even though work is available.

Placement Officer Ron Harding says, "I can almost guarantee any Work-Study student a job if he'll come talk to me."

Based on financial need standards set by the federal government, Work-Study helps the full-time college student to find a job and earn an individually determined amount of money during the year.

Once his application is cleared by the Financial Aids Office, the student can check with the Placement Office in Nelson Hall for job openings. If the student knows of a specific professor or department that he'd like to work for, he can go directly there.

Ad Hoc

"To promote good working relations between the Associated Students and members of the faculty, administration, and the community at large." This, according to Chairman Dean Palus, is one purpose of the newly-formed Ad Hoc Public Relations Committee. Palus feels that improving community relations is of paramount importance. The community needs to be kept informed so as to have an accurate picture of the college student. The PR Committee will also attempt to keep the ASB informed of the SLC's activities, thereby establishing better communication between the two.

Duties of the PR Committee will include the writing of press announcements for release (through the HSC News Office) to publications such as the Lumberjack, Arcata Union, Humboldt Times Standard, and Ripsaw, and the formation of a speaker's bureau to fill speaking engagements on campus, at civic group meetings, business club meetings (Kiwanis, Rotary, etc.). Sub-committees will be formed to coordinate specific events. The committee is still largely in the planning stage and is open to suggestions of possible activities.

Members at present include Palus, Abby Abinanti, Christie Alger, Judy Brown, Bill Connors, Robin Forrest, Jim Hoff, and Dennis O'Riley. Anyone else who is interested in working on this committee is urged to contact Palus in the ASB office (located in the east wing of Nelson Hall).

Humboldt Advised By Cabinet

The Humboldt State College Advisory Board might be called the president's "Kitchen Cabinet."

The Advisory Board, comprised of "prominent and respected citizens of the region," according to HSC President Cornelius Siemens, meets monthly to discuss college-community problems.

Board members individually and collectively assist HSC in various ways. One project was the development of 100 new scholarships, another concerned lumber donations for construction of the east stands in Redwood Bowl. The Board has also been "instrumental" in acquiring vacant land next to HSC for expansion of the college.

Each Board member is also able to help to interpret and promote the work of the college among his associates and the public he deals with. The Board member is requested to provide feedback from the public to the president.

The State Legislature says the purpose of the Advisory Board is to "consult and advise with the president of the college with respect to the improvement and development of the college." State law provides that there be 13 members of the Board, appointed by the Trustees. Their terms run for four years and are renewable. The president of the college, by law, is the executive secretary of the Board.

Advisory Boards were first established by law in 1950. Humboldt State had a similar board called the Humboldt State Teachers College Improvement Association from 1928 to 1950.

The current membership of the Advisory Board includes three alumni: Mr. G. Edward Goodwin, Chairman, an Attorney from Eureka; Mr. C. J. Hill, Treasurer, of Arcata; and Dr. Walter W. Dolfini of Eureka.

Other members are Will T. Patton, Vice-Chairman, Fortuna; Mal Coombs, Garberville; Frank Gianoni, William E. Lawson, Robert W. Matthews, Sr., Byron B. Miller and Henry Trobitz, all of Arcata; Thomas McNamara, Crescent City; and Andrew G. Rosaia, Eureka.

Mom 'n Dad's Day

The second annual Mom and Dad's Day will be held this Saturday, November 15. The purpose is to give parents a chance to learn more about Humboldt State College social and academic life.

Jackie Brinkman is chairman of the event which is under the sponsorship of the College Program Board. Four hundred parents are expected to participate in the day which includes tours of the campus, a banquet and talent show.

When are they going to legalize Pot?

A lot of people these days are going around saying it's only a matter of months until Acapulco Gold is available over the counter in menthol and king-size lengths.

Which is an indication of how little people know about marihuana. The real fact of the matter is that marihuana is a drug. Like all drugs, it affects the human body and the human brain. Like all drugs, it has side effects.

Today, research scientists are studying marihuana's effects on the brain, the nervous system, on chromosomes, and on various organs of the body. They're trying to find out why different people have different reactions to it.

They're studying its effects after one or two cigarettes, and they're trying to find out what happens with long term use.

Maybe it will turn out that there's no reason for it to be illegal. But nobody can be sure until all the facts are in. And until they all are, it's a pretty bum risk.

Committee Positions Open Now

"At least 48 openings remain on various student body committees," according to ASB President Wayne Benedict.

The most important, Benedict said, are on the Elections Commission where 12 students are being sought. The Elections Commissioner, chosen by the ASB President with the approval of the Student Legislative Council, names the other 11 members. These are then confirmed by the SLC, he said.

The Election Commission is responsible for conducting campus elections and distributing information about the election.

Other committees which still have openings are the Publicity Board, the Joint Student-Faculty Review Board, which handles student grievances, and the College Union Board of Directors.

There are 41 committees listed in the committees handbook issued by Stan Mottaz, activities advisor. There are openings for at least 200 students, on these committees.

At last week's meeting of the SLC, 17 students were seated on the Student Judiciary Council including 10 new members.

Larry Henderson, a senior engineering student, was named as chairman of the council and Tom Grover was named vice-chairman. Both are former members of the council. Leslie Scofield, a new member, was named clerk.

Other members are: Howard Fuller, Alan Anderson, Lee Whitecar, Dan Eastburg, and Gailey Browning. New members include Bob Chandler, Duane Bradley, Helen King, Patricia Nelson, Maria Johnston, Marwan Hujaj, James Jaeger, Jerry Wicox and Rick Lay.

Trustees Caution College Papers

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Shying away from official censorship, a state college trustees' committee is recommending steps to "guard against misuse of freedom of the press" by student newspapers in the 18-campus state system.

The recommendation Tuesday, on a 6-1 vote of the trustees committee on educational policy, follows concern expressed by some trustees over alleged cases of obscenity and radical political stands in campus newspapers. The resolution calls for establishment of student-administration watchdog publication boards.

College system Chancellor Glenn Dumke predicted there would be "another episode" of controversy unless trustees act. "We've got some problems that need to be corked up," he declared.

The committee's resolution—which next goes to the full board of trustees—recommends that Dumke be "directed to insure that each state college review methods of administration that will most likely solve the problems of student publications without censorship."

The committee acted over the objections of campus student body presidents at the meeting who wanted trustees to confine themselves to recommendations rather than directives to the chancellor.

Lone Dissenter

Trustee James Thacher of San Francisco cast the lone dissenting vote. He said he feared the diversity of viewpoints in the campus papers would be lessened.

The "Forty-Niner" student newspaper at California State College at Long Beach editorialized against the resolution, saying "... a law that 'directs' an editor to be fair is as unrealistic as a law that 'directs' citizens to live without racial prejudice."

Trustee chairman Daniel Ridder, publisher of the Long Beach Independent Press-Telegram, said official student publications using student funds should not be allowed to take editorial stands in student body elections. That could result in fees paid by a student candidate being used to pay for a publication that opposes him, he said.

The troops that Gregory refers to are poverty "warriors" who seem to have come to a war that no one is giving this year.

Counselor Optimistic After Meeting

"I came away with an attitude of optimism," Russell Munsell, counselor-at-large from the HSC Counseling Center said, speaking about his recent trip to a weekend workshop in human relations.

The institute entitled "human relations in higher education," was led by Dr. Stewart B. Shapiro, director of Counseling and Guidance, Education Dept., University of California at Santa Barbara.

Students, faculty and administrators from colleges throughout the nation attended the three-day event in Berkeley. The primary emphasis was on improving communication skills and a collaborative atmosphere on the campus.

In working toward goals, Munsell stressed the idea of "mutual identification." He explained this by bringing out the example of one individual wanting to solve a problem, but feeling that he is all alone, forgetting about it. He went on to say, if the individual went farther he would probably find that there are many others feeling the same way.

Three basic questions were asked at the workshop that could be applied in any problem solving situation. Where am I now and where am I going? What are the barriers? How am I going to get there?

Munsell said that the main thing is to concentrate on the goal instead of on the barriers. If you are creative, you can figure out ways to get by these barriers he said.

On any campus this can be applied. If a student feels that there is need for improvement in a specific area, he can ask these questions and set out to solve them, he continued.

After discussing and participating in these problem solving as well as other communication techniques, Munsell expressed an attitude of excitement and optimism about the potentialities of higher education. Now he wishes to "communicate this excitement to others," here on the HSC campus.

Positions Open For Work - Study

Less than half of the students cleared for Work-Study jobs are not working even though work is available.

Placement Officer Ron Harding says, "I can almost guarantee any Work-Study student a job if he'll come talk to me."

Based on financial need standards set by the federal government, Work-Study helps the full-time college student to find a job and earn an individually determined amount of money during the year.

Once his application is cleared by the Financial Aids Office, the student can check with the Placement Office in Nelson Hall for job openings. If the student knows of a specific professor or department that he'd like to work for, he can go directly there.

Ad Hoc

"To promote good working relations between the Associated Students and members of the faculty, administration, and the community at large." This, according to Chairman Dean Palus, is one purpose of the newly-formed Ad Hoc Public Relations Committee. Palus feels that improving community relations is of paramount importance. The community needs to be kept informed so as to have an accurate picture of the college student. The PR Committee will also attempt to keep the ASB informed of the SLC's activities, thereby establishing better communication between the two.

Duties of the PR Committee will include the writing of press announcements for release (through the HSC News Office) to publications such as the Lumberjack, Arcata Union, Humboldt Times Standard, and Ripsaw, and the formation of a speaker's bureau to fill speaking engagements on campus, at civic group meetings, business club meetings (Kiwanis, Rotary, etc.). Sub-committees will be formed to coordinate specific events. The committee is still largely in the planning stage and is open to suggestions of possible activities.

Members at present include Palus, Abby Abinanti, Christie Alger, Judy Brown, Bill Connors, Robin Forrest, Jim Hoff, and Dennis O'Riley. Anyone else who is interested in working on this committee is urged to contact Palus in the ASB office (located in the east wing of Nelson Hall).

ALL YOU PEOPLE interested in fencing, take note. Paul Golden, president of the HSC fencing club, has revealed that there will be a women's fencing class next quarter. He didn't tell me who would have further details, but coach Pat Hetland in the P.E. department is a likely source.

He also said that the fencing club meets every Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the women's gym, and that all beginners of either sex... (oops, sorry Max, Ron, and guys, I forgot that's a dirty word)... gender are invited.

NOTE TO THE CHEERLEADERS. I'm not taking sides, but your yells at the Hayward game were heard by everyone in Humboldt County. The KATA announcer's mike was quite within range, and your antics were quite audible.

Volleyballers Loop Champs

Humboldt State may be having its football problems, but thanks to the women's volleyball team, has a league championship.

Finishing the season with a 6-0 match record, the Lumberladies Friday night downed University of California in the Berkeley gym, losing the first game 15-4 then coming back to win 15-10 and 15-11. Saturday in the Sonoma State gym, HSC beat Cal State Hayward 15-2, 15-4 then finished the season by sinking Sonoma 15-6, 15-7.

The first place finish has earned Humboldt State a berth in the Northern California Women's Volleyball Championships December

6 at Sonoma State.

Coached by Miss Barbara Van Putten, associate professor of physical education, the team members are Barbara Culbertson, Bev Wasson, Pat Susan, Penny Benson, Mary Hill, Terry Tucker, Marcia Furbush, Rixie Wehern, Marsha Rousseau, and Caroline Galbraith.

In addition to the teams played Friday and Saturday, HSC's league consists of San Francisco State and Sacramento State. The second place finisher also gets an invitation to the December tourney, and HSC team members say their chances are good since they've already defeated Cal Berkeley, considered the toughest team in Northern California.

Fencers Shut Down In Tourney

In its first competition of the season, the Humboldt State fencing club was eliminated from the Sonoma State Invitational Fencing Meet by losing to City College of San Francisco after defeating College of San Mateo.

Paul Golden won 3 bouts and lost two, Bill Nyden won two and lost four, and Ron Barsaglia won five and lost four bouts for Humboldt.

HSC's next competition is scheduled tentatively for this weekend, at the San Francisco City Open Tournament.

ATHLETE-OF-WEEK

Cap Powers

A junior transfer from last year's state champion team at College of the Redwoods, defensive tackle Cap Powers, a 6-4, 325 pounder from Arcata is this week's featured member of the "Green Chain." His outstanding hustle and pursuit of the ball carrier has been evident all year, but was especially noticeable against Hayward. Cappy was an All-Golden Valley Conference pick at the local junior college last year.

Steve Short

The center on any football team doesn't get much of the glory, but he's still responsible for snapping the ball, and of course, must then protect the quarterback by blocking. Lumberjack Coach Bud Van Deren picked 6-2, 210 lb. center Steve Short as this week's outstanding offensive varsity griddier on his consistency, pass blocking, and all around play all season, and against Hayward. A junior, Steve is from Ukiah.

Gerald Johnson

This week's selection from the Ramblers is Freshman Gerald Johnson, a linebacker. Against the College of the Redwoods' squad last weekend, he went into the game with a positive attitude, and didn't let the lopsided score bother him after things went awry for the jayvee squad, going on to play what one of the coaches called "the best game I've ever seen Gerald play."

Tim McGill

A freshman from Corona Del Mar, Tim McGill is one of two water polo players honored this week for their outstanding efforts. He's only in his first season of play here, of course, but he's made his mark by being the Lumberjack's leading scorer, with 25 goals thus far. In high school, he was a high school All-American selection.

Mark Byers

Another of the top finishers on the Lumberjack cross-country squad is senior Mark Byers, who is in his second year of competition at HSC. In last week's triangular against Davis and S.F. State, he took third, and according to coach Jim Hunt, was instrumental in the victory.

Mark's junior college career was spent at College of Marin and he is a graduate of Novato High School.

Eric Oyster

One of the two co-captains on the HSC water polo team, Eric Oyster is a junior and a two-year letterman. Coach Jim Malone feels Eric is probably the most consistent player on both offense and defense on the squad. He's the third leading scorer, with 13 goals. A speech major, Eric hails from Downey.

Hayward Dashes HSC's Hopes for FWC Title

Lumberjacks to Meet Hornets In Home Finale

Trying to salvage a tie for second place in the Far Western Conference football standings, Humboldt State will take on second place Sacramento State Saturday night at 8 o'clock in Redwood Bowl.

Sacramento took last weekend off from FWC competition and played University of San Francisco in a non-league contest, rapping USF 26-0.

The Hornets are 6-2 overall, and 3-1 in FWC play, while the Lumberjacks dropped back to a 2-2 and tie with Chico's Wildcats, who spilled the U.C. Davis Aggies, 20-10 Saturday.

Coach Bud Van Deren reports that one of his biggest worries will be Hornet end Mike Carter, who going into last weekend's play had no less than a dozen touchdowns to his credit (the most in the FWC). Rick Bergstrom, a 6-4, 210 lb. quarterback, will be passing for Sacramento. "He throws the ball pretty well," Van Deren says.

"We'll just have to cover Carter and rush the passer," Van Deren noted.

The Hornets "are as strong a team as any in the league," he says. "They run a pro-offense, and are primarily a passing team." Their running game is dominated on by the power sweep, and they like to run inside a bit, he added.

Van Deren reports that he plans to do "nothing different" against the Hornets, but emphasized the need to stop their passing attack.

One key blow to Sacramento was the loss of its star quarterback, Mike Lippi, who injured his shoulder on his throwing side two weeks ago against Hayward, and is expected to be out for the rest of the season.

Cross Country Team Hopes for NCAA Trip

Last night, by a 9-0 vote, the Athletic Control Board approved sending six men to the NCAA College Division Finals. Earlier story below:

Humboldt State's cross country team may be competing in the NCAA College Division finals this weekend but at press time it was uncertain whether funds would be approved for the trip.

Coach Jim Hunt, who already has received approval for himself and fleet-footed Bill Scobey, holder of the NCAA three-mile record, at deadline time had planned to ask the athletic control board for funds to take the entire team to Wheaton, Ill., for the finals.

This all comes as a result of Humboldt's trouncing of highly-ranked U.C. Davis, with San Francisco State thrown in for good measure, in a triangular meet north of Trinidad Saturday. HSC had 25 points, UCD 32, and S.F. State 85.

The Aggies, with the same men they used Saturday, took fifth place in the Nationals last year, and plan to withdraw their entry due to their defeat at the hands of the Lumberjacks.

Humboldt downed Davis 25-32 in dual scoring, while both teams trounced San Francisco, 15-30.

There will be no repeat of last year's Far Western Conference football championship for HSC. And nobody's talking about the Camellia Bowl.

Saturday afternoon in Hayward, Cal State took care of HSC's chances by handing the Lumberjacks a 28-13 loss.

Hayward, which clinched at least a tie for the FWC crown, used the long play to advantage, their TD's coming on passes of 34, 79, and 87 yards and a 69 yard run.

HSC's TD's came on a 44 yard Dave Ackerman to Rich Hibberd pass and a handoff to Rich Stevenson from 14 yards out.

SCORE BY QUARTERS
Humboldt 6 0 7 0 - 13
Hayward 0 21 7 0 - 28

A special halftime program in commemoration of the centennial of college football is planned for halftime at Saturday's Hornets-Lumberjack's game. Several special awards will be made, but exact details were not available at press time. The program is being sponsored by the NCAA and the Chevrolet Division of General Motors.

Water Poloists End FWC Play

Humboldt State's water polo team finished its Far Western Conference regular season Saturday by dropping a 6-4 decision to Chico State in the Lumberjack pool, ending up in fourth place with a 2-3 record. The loss came after winning a non-conference tilt against the Wildcats Friday night, 8-7, in double overtime.

The season's not over for the Lumberjack aquamen, however, as the team travels to UC Davis this weekend for the FWC tournament.

Humboldt scored first, but Chico bounced back in the second quarter to take a 3-1 halftime lead in Saturday's league encounter. In the final quarter, Don Shattuck found the mark and enabled the Lumberjacks to post a 4-4 tie. But then Chico's Tom Smith sank two goals to put the Wildcats in front 6-4.

The record of Friday wins and Saturday losses follows a trend set by the Humboldt team throughout the season. Coach Jim Malone has coined the bad luck the "Saturday jinx."

Eric Oyster was the hero of Friday's tilt, sinking a penalty shot in the third overtime period to win it for the Lumberjacks. Oyster sank another shot in the first overtime period, but Chico was given new life when it sank a penalty shot.

Tim McGill also scored twice for Humboldt.

Winter Registration

3. Registration Instructions.

4. A self-addressed envelope with postage to be paid by the student. (Completed forms with the payment of fees can be left in the mail drop in the Business Office during registration week.)

5. Degree planning sheet which the faculty developed to indicate the sequence of courses for a degree.

6. Advanced standing sheet for all transfer students.

7. Registration check list.

Fry says the various departments will have advising schedules posted soon for those students who wish assistance in planning which courses to take.

He recommends that students only put down classes they can really use. "Don't just fill up the spaces," Fry said that many students did not realize that they might receive classes from their alternate list.

Class lists with listings of every class being offered with the name of the teacher, the time, and place will be available in the College Book Store on Jan. 5th and 6th.

Fry advises freshmen and sophomore students to list their P.E. choice as one of their first preferences to ensure getting a class.

As with registration for this quarter, the fewer hours a student blocks out on his free time request card, the better his chances are of getting all the classes he wants.

All students will be held to a maximum request load of 18 units, but more units can be added by anyone other than a freshman.

For the first week of classes in January, there will be no charge for add cards, section change cards, or unit change cards. Drop cards will still be $3 per drop to keep people from signing up for a lot of classes just to "shop around."

The individual class schedules will be available in the CAC two days before classes start in January.

Those who do not meet the Nov. 21 deadline for returning registration materials will have to pay a $5 fine to register late. This process requires the student to obtain the signature of the instructor of each class that he wishes to take.

ASB Question

move ASB funds for the benefit of the Student Body.

4. That the money was tied up for three years. — Phillips found that the money is in public deposit to be held for 180 days. It may be removed upon written request, Phillips said.

5. That the ASB had a policy of not allowing "others" to make fiscal decisions of such a magnitude. — Again Phillips referred to Senate Bill No. 19. Phillips said that it was his interpretation that Devery had the right to move the funds as he saw fit. The only thing Devery cannot do is to spend the funds without ASB approval. The Senate bill provides that the ASB funds may "be expended by the custodian only by the submission of a . . . claim schedule by officers of the student body organization."

6. That the state is using the $51,000 of student money interest free for the trailers. — Phillips said that the funds were gaining 6 1/2% interest, and that the state was not using the student money at all.

Phillips completed his investigation on Tuesday, but announced that there would be a Board of Finance meeting today at noon in the ASB office to review the matter further.

time, and then, later in the decade, the term "Lumberjacks" came into vogue and stuck. He then said that he was unable to find any record of it ever being officially changed to Lumberjack, or even Thunderbolt.

Further digging by this reporter backs this up. We are the Highlanders, according to all available information.

Briefly, "Highlanders" was picked as the result of a controversy-ridden contest and election in 1931, "Thunderbolts" was the brainchild of the athletic department a few years later, the original nickname having gone into disuse due to its unpopularity, and the "Lumberjacks" title, or at least the adoption of it, was the product of the typewriters of Eureka sportswriters (one in particular) who thought "Thunderbolts" inappropriate.

But the interesting point is that none of the mascots, other than "Highlanders", were ever voted upon by any official student group.

Apathy a la '31

How was Humboldt State christened the "Highlanders"?

During 1930-31 athletic activities at Humboldt State Teachers College were expanding. There was much talk among the 250-member student body about a mascot for the school, especially in view of the fact that it was already in its late teens, having been founded in 1913 as Humboldt State Normal School.

But the talk was just that. Talk. There seemed to be very little interest in actually going through the process of picking a name. The Feb. 20, 1931 Lumberjack pointed this out:

"San Francisco State Teachers College is now running a mascot contest . . . It seems odd that while students of other colleges take an interest in school affairs, we take very little interest. A short time ago we ran a similar contest, but very few suggestions were handed in."

Warty Frogs?

A contest had been held, but an article in the March 16 Lumberjack pointed out the absurdity of some of the choices. "Humboldt State struggles under the suggestions of 'Howling Hyenas', 'Galloping Jelly Fish', and 'Warty Frogs.'"

The following week, there still weren't very many entries, and fewer good ones. The Lumberjack lamented "With the second week of the mascot contest near at hand, the sponsors . . . find the contributions to the contest lacking. It seems that the college doesn't want a battle cry."

Contributions carried over from the previous contest were Highlanders, Roughriders, Green Wave, and Green Dragon. New entries were Redwood Marines, Humboldt Loggers, Redwood Giants, Redwood Dare Devils, Tigers, Gorillas (forseeing a George of the Jungle fan club on campus 39 years later?), Humboldt Smog (in 1931?) and Cuttlefish ('Fish Choke Wolfpack?').

Sometime between March 20 and April 21 (the Lumberjack was commercially printed some weeks, mimeographed others, and in this case the staff forgot to put the date on the mimeographed paper) the student council chose the name Highlanders.

The way this was reported by the campus newspaper doesn't say much for the calibre of the journalism program at that time:

CONTEST REPORTED CLOSED

"It has been rumored that the mascot for Humboldt College has been chosen. Due to the lack of support during the last run of the contest, it is rumored that the student council finally met and decided on the mascot . . . the winner of the former contest, namely the "Humboldt Highlanders" running the theme on the idea of the typical Scotchmen (sic) with rooters hats to match. The rooters hats are of green felt trimmed in gold and of typical scotch origin. All students wishing to see samples of the article may see them in the bookstore . . . Remember, (other suggestions) are always welcome, and too, the contest may not be closed yet — it's only a rumor, remember."

But apparently it was more than just a rumor. On April 21, the Lumberjack, in its lead editorial, blasted the choice:

"THAT MASCOT"

" . . . Another election was planned, but before it could be held Student Council announced that they had selected 'Highlanders' as our mascot. Now we ask you, is 'Highlanders' a mascot? Could we put 'Highlander' on a chain and lead him around at games and rallies . . ."

But the name had been chosen, by official action, and that was that. For a while at least.

In subsequent articles, the Lumberjack will explain what happened to the name "Highlander," the brief reign of the "Thunderbolts," and will reveal who was responsible for the tacking of the nickname "Lumberjacks" on the HSC football team.
